Continuing Education

Memphis State regards education as an open-ended essay: it is not concluded after a given period. It must continue. The University constantly attempts to organize and implement the continuation.

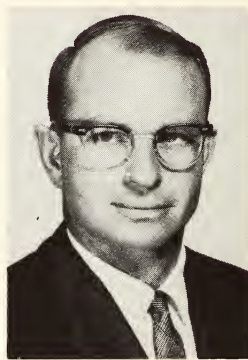

Through continuing education most of the services of higher education are made available to a larger public. For those who cannot participate in full-time study, the University extends its program through summer sessions, evening courses, urban extension, conference services and special interest classes.

THE SUMMER SESSION

The Summer Session is an integral part of the University year, with every academic department represented in the summer offerings. All courses are equivalent to those offered in the regular year in method, content, and credit and enforce the same prerequisites.

The courses offered in the two terms of The Summer Session are chosen from the broader offerings of the regular year to meet the need of the following:

1. Students enrolled during the regular year, and transferring students who wish to accelerate their progress toward degrees or pre-professional qualifications or to make up deficiencies.
2. Graduate students who find it necessary or desirable to use summer periods for study.
3. Teachers and school administrators who wish to complete degree requirements or to take particular courses to improve their professional standing.
4. Transient students pursuing degree work at other colleges or universities.
5. High school graduates who may desire to begin their college careers at once.

For a partial list of the institutes, workshops, and other special events scheduled for the University campus during the 1967 Summer Session, see page 12.

MEMPHIS STATE UNIVERSITY

For more than half a century Memphis State University has been growing with the City of Memphis as it served the educational needs of the community and the Mid-South area.

In the University's 55th year, expansion was the key word. Presently, University officials are awaiting word of the disposition of the 145 acres of land that comprise the site of Kennedy Veterans Hospital, less than a mile from Memphis State's main campus. An extensive use plan for the property has already been prepared by Memphis State contingent on the University acquiring the property.

The present campus, increased by only 42 acres since its establishment in 1912, now encompasses 122 acres. More than $2 million was spent for land acquisition during 1966.

A $20-million construction program entered its final phases this spring. Construction has been rapid and classes moved into the buildings as soon as they were completed.

The John W. Brister Library, 11 academic buildings, a campus school, two maintenance buildings, a field house, nine dormitories and a Panhellenic building are currently in use by the University. Under construction are three new library buildings, a $3.8-million student union, four academic facilities and two privately-owned dormitories on Central Avenue.

The library buildings will add twice as much floor space for up to a million volumes and will include a 14-story tower for book stacks and reading rooms. Two buildings in the new Fine Arts Center, where music, speech and drama classes will be taught, opened last semester. A new Law School was also recently completed.

Memphis State had the largest enrollment in its history this year. More than 14,200 students crowded into the learning cycle, with nearly 3,000 students attending the Evening Division. Most of those enrolled for night classes are regular employees of Memphis businesses taking courses to increase their work ability.

This year was a year of tremendous curricula development for Memphis State University. Doctoral programs in education and psychology were begun thus making it possible for West Tennesseans to obtain the terminal degree without having to leave their homes and jobs for schools more than 400 miles away. More than 30 programs are offered for masters degrees—those in political science and marketing having been added for the fall semester.

The University is in its second year of instruction in architecture and an additional 300 students are enrolled in the Herff School of Engineering. Another 200 are pursuing law degrees in the four-year-old School of Law.

Memphis State professors naturally spend the greatest portion of their working day in the instruction of students, but are engaged in increasing amounts of research. During the past 18 months, more than $1-million in research grants have been received, including a $257,000 grant for the study of mental retardation.

Memphis State has a total of 1,200 faculty and staff members with an operating budget of $12-million.

Memphis State University has also increased its role of service to the community. Through the Bureau of Business and Economic Research and The Bureau of Educational Research and Services, Memphis State studies trends important to the operation of an area. The findings of these bureaus are presented to governmental agencies and individuals in order that they may make maximum use of the research of the university.

The University stands on the threshold of becoming one of the finest educational institutions in the South. With a projected enrollment of 20,000 by the end of the decade, Memphis State will serve Memphis and the Tri-State area in an even greater capacity.

HISTORICAL STATEMENT

In 1909 the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee enacted a General Education Bill which provided for the establishment and maintenance of normal schools for the training of teachers, one such school to be located in each of the three grand divisions of the state. In generous support of this proposal, Memphis and Shelby County contributed $350,000 and a site of approximately eighty acres near the eastern edge of the city. On September 15, 1912, West Tennessee State Normal School was formally opened.

During the intervening years the name, nature, and functions of this school have undergone numerous changes. In 1925 it became a senior college, and the name was changed to West Tennessee State Teachers College. In 1941 the liberal arts curriculum was considerably enlarged, and the name was changed to Memphis State College. In 1950 a graduate school was added, and the undergraduate program was reorganized into three schools. On July 1, 1957, by action of the Tennessee State Legislature, the school was designated Memphis State University.

AIMS OF THE UNIVERSITY

Memphis State University has aimed in the past and continues in the present to offer an educational program compounded of those three elements traditionally associated with institutions of higher learning: teaching, research, and public service.

The primary purpose of the University is to provide experiences through which students may attain a high degree of intellectual maturity, social stability, and professional competence. Through the variety of courses offered by the various schools of the University it is hoped that the student's perspective will be so enlarged that the choices he makes in life will be cogent ones and that he will become a fully awakened and involved individual.

Research in many areas and on all levels is vital if our knowledge and comprehension are to be expanded. Because of the unexpected and invaluable results which have come from research undertaken without any immediate goal in view, the distinctions between pure research and applied research have become blurred. From the universities, the communities of scholars, each seeking truth in his own way, have come the most significant discoveries of our age. Memphis State University is constantly seeking to increase and improve its facilities in order to make available to its faculty and students the time, tools, and atmosphere necessary for the kinds of research which the citizens of the area have every right to expect.

Teaching and research are in themselves, of course, part of the public service which the University offers; but, in addition to these, the faculty, staff, and students make other valuable contributions to the public good. Both the physical facilities and the talents of the personnel are now utilized in many ways, and the University is always receptive to suggestions as to how the services may be expanded in order to be of added value to the citizens of the metropolitan area, the state, and the surrounding region.

ORGANIZATION

Memphis State University comprises The School of Arts and Sciences, The School of Business Administration, The School of Education, The Herff School of Engineering, The School of Law, and The Graduate School. The regular program of the University is supplemented by The Evening Division, The Downtown Division, The Summer Session, and The Extension Division, the various offerings of which afford greatly increased opportunities for the people of this area to avail themselves of the facilities and services of the University.

The other twelve members of the board are appointed by the Governor, four members from each of the three grand divisions of the State. Offices of the Board are located in the Cordell Hull Building, Nashville.

The chief administrative officer of the University is the President. He is assisted and advised by members of the administrative staff and the faculty organized into three official bodies, The Administrative Council, The Faculty Council, and The Graduate Council. Each school of the University is administered by a dean, each individual department by a chairman.

MEMPHIS STATE UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION

The Memphis State University Foundation, a private, non-profit general welfare corporation, was established in 1964 to promote and support the academic program of the University. It is administered by a Board of Trustees composed of eminent community leaders in business and industry. Contributions, gifts, and bequests are solicited by the Foundation for the advancement of Memphis State University as an institution of excellence. The funds of the Foundation are expended for student scholarships, departmental projects, research, visiting distinguished professors, faculty salary supplements, visiting lecturers, library and art acquisitions, and similar purposes. Contributions to the Foundation, a tax-exempt organization, are deductible for income tax purposes.

THE LIBRARY

The University Library, named in honor of former President John Willard Brister, was built in 1927; it has since been considerably enlarged, the latest addition having been completed in 1963. The collection at present numbers over 200,000 volumes, including all U.S. Government publications since 1956. Subscriptions and files are maintained for general and specialized periodicals.

An undergraduate library is presently under construction. It is located south of the existing library and will be connected so as to form an integral part of a library complex. The new structure, featuring a 14-story stack tower, will be put into service in 1968.

CHUCALISSA INDIAN VILLAGE AND MUSEUM

Chucalissa, prehistoric Indian town and museum, situated in the southwest corner of Shelby County on Mitchell Road, is operated by the University as a research and training facility. Excavation of the site is being undertaken, with students performing the archaeological field work under staff supervision. Adjoining acreage serves as a biological field station. Chucalissa also provides indoor and outdoor archaeological exhibits, open to the public throughout the year.

Information concerning the University and the registration process will be given. Immediately following this orientation assembly, students will be directed to advisory sessions conducted by the school in which they intend to major.

See page 10 for further information on packets.

EVENING DIVISION

The Evening Division is a separate administrative unit, but not a separate academic unit of the University. That is, students who enroll in evening classes do so through one of the four undergraduate schools (Arts & Sciences, Business Administration, Education, or Engineering).

Orientation for new undergraduate students in the evening Division will be held at 6:00 P.M., Wednesday, June 7, 1967. Students should go direct to the University Auditorium in the Administration Building. First Term registration for all undergraduate students in the Evening Division will be held from 6:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M. on the evening of Thursday, June 8, 1967. Second Term registration for the Evening Division will be held from 6:00 P.M. to 9:00 P.M. on the evening of Monday, July 17, 1967.

Classes will meet as scheduled Monday, June 12 for the First Term and Tuesday, July 13, for the Second Term.

REGISTRATION PROCEDURES

Only the general steps in the registration process are presented here. Basically, the registration procedure consists of the following steps:

1. Secure registration materials.
2. Confer with faculty adviser to secure his guidance and approval in planning your schedule.
3. New and former students have ID card made in accordance with instructions and times in the instruction sheet.
4. Enter the registration center to secure class cards and pay fees.

New undergraduate students will be given specific instructions during the Orientation Program.

REGISTRATION FEES

Undergraduate School	Resident	Non-Resident
Summer Session (two terms)	$65.00	$130.00
Per Semester Hour (part-time)	10.00	20.00

IMPORTANT NOTE: The student must indicate his choice of payment plan at the time of his initial summer session registration. He may not shift from one plan to the other after his initial registration. The full fee entitles him to register for a maximum of 14 semester hours (undergraduate), 12 semester hours (graduate), in two terms: NO PART OF THIS FEE IS RETURNABLE (unless the student withdraws from the university within the refundable period). If he registers for less than the maximum number of hours, or if he attends for only one term, no part of the full payment will be refunded. If he wishes to register for only one term or for less than 7 semester hours for two terms it will, of course, be to his advantage to pay at the per semester rate.

(For more detailed information concerning fees, consult the University Catalog).

EXPLANATION OF SELECTED PROCEDURES

REGISTRATION MATERIALS

Registration materials for the first term of the Summer Session, will be mailed to all students currently enrolled in the University and to all new and former students who complete admission requirements by Friday, May 12, 1967, for the first term.

Registration materials, for the second term of the Summer Session, will be mailed to all students who enroll for the first term.

Any student who does not receive registration materials by mail may report to the office through which is he applying, one week prior to registration, during regular working hours, to clear his admission or readmission and to secure registration materials.

ID CARD

ALL STUDENTS MUST PRESENT THEIR PERMANENT MEMPHIS STATE UNIVERSITY ID CARD BEFORE THEY WILL BE ALLOWED TO ENTER THE REGISTRATION CENTER.

The place where ID cards will be made for new students will be specified during the Undergraduate Orientation program.

ADVISERS' FORM

Current students may pick up adviser's forms any time after May 1, 1967, from the respective adviser's office, in accordance with adviser scheduling as prescribed by the respective schools.

ADVISERS

At the time of registration, each student at Memphis State University is assigned to a faculty member who will serve as his academic adviser. This adviser is a member of the department in which the student is majoring; for this reason it is necessary that every student be prepared to name a major area at the time he registers. Such choices are not permanent or binding. The student may change his major area at any time during his college career with a minimum of administrative procedure.

- Current and former students* will report to the faculty members who have advised them in the past. If any change in advisers is necessary or desired, application must be made to the chairman of the department concerned.
- Beginning freshmen, transfers and term specials* will receive instructions about advisers during orientation sessions.

CHANGE OF COURSE

After a student's registration is complete, he may, within specified time limits, change his class schedule through the process of adding and/or dropping courses. APPLICATION FOR PERMISSION TO ADD OR DROP COURSES BEGINS WITH THE FACULTY ADVISER.

CHANGE OF COURSE FEE

A fee of $3.00 will be assessed for each course which is added or dropped. The fee will be assessed on the number of course changes and not on the number of change or course applications. (For example, if a student initiates a single change of course application involving any combination of adds and drops for three different courses, the fee would be $9.00).

If a student initiates a change of course application involving two different sections of the same course, the fee will be $3.00. (For example, the fee charged for dropping Section 2 and adding Section 3 of History 1301 would be $3.00). Payment of the fee will be made to the Cashier's Office at the time the approved change of course application is presented there. NO CHANGE OF COURSE IS PROCESSED UNTIL THE FEE HAS BEEN PAID.

SCHEDULE CONFLICT

Each student is responsible for preventing conflicts in the scheduling of his classes. The change of course fee will apply to any class schedule revision.

CHANGE OF SCHOOL

Undergraduate students may change the school in which they are majoring prior to registration or after the drop period.

Once a student has registered in a particular school, he may not change schools until the end of the drop period for that term.

To change schools, students should go first to the Office of the Dean of the School in which they are currently enrolled and obtain the application.

FULL SESSION COURSES

Full Session courses extend through both terms but must be registered for on first term registration cards only. Show the full credit as listed. Only half of the credit will count against the first term load, and half against the second term; however, both terms must be completed for credit on the course.

WITHDRAWAL

An Undergraduate student may withdraw from the University by notifying Dean R. M. Robison in person or in writing.

Evening Division students may withdraw from the University by notifying The Evening Division Office in person or in writing.

Failure to notify the appropriate Dean will result in a grade of "F" for each course in which the student is registered.

The last day to withdraw for the First Term is Wednesday, July 5, 1967.

The last day to withdraw for the Second Term is Thursday, August 10, 1967.

CHANGE OF NAME OR ADDRESS

It is imperative that the student keep his name and address current on University records. Opportunity for indicating name and address changes is provided during the registration period via the Student Information Form in the registration packet. If any change in name or PERMANENT address has occurred since your last enrollment, you should indicate such in the spaces provided

FINAL EXAMINATION

During the Summer Session final examinations are given on the day indicated in the calendar at the regularly scheduled meeting of the class. Each examination, thus, is ninety minutes in length and attendance is compulsory. Absence from a final examination without the permission of the instructor incurs a mark of "F."

GRADE REPORTS

Reports of grades for the Summer Session are not mailed out until the entire Summer Session is over. The grade report which you will receive at the end of the summer includes grades earned during both terms of the Summer Session.

School of Business Administration

Dr. H. J. Markle, Dean

Office: Room 100, School of Business Administration Building

The function of the School of Business Administration is to provide the basic education necessary to prepare a person to enter the profession of business. A significant characteristic of the school is that it provides for concentration in the basic areas of economics and business, not as a substitute for, but as a part of a broad liberal education. From 40 to 60 per cent of the course work taken for the Bachelor of Business Administration degree is taken in such areas as the humanities, the natural and physical sciences and the social sciences.

Herff School of Engineering

Dr. F. H. Kellogg, Dean
Office: Room 215, School of Education Building

The three basic fields of civil, electrical and mechanical engineering are offered at the undergraduate level leading to two degrees: the Bachelor of Arts in Applied Science, a four-year curriculum, and the Bachelor of Engineering, a five-year curriculum. The liberal arts program is intended for those students who wish to prepare themselves for possible careers involving executive work, travel or research, or who wish to secure a broad general preparation. The technical program is for students who have completed three years or more of a single language in high school or students who wish to prepare for the purely technical work of the engineer.
